LOUIS KOSSUTH DEAD.

The Great Hungarian Patriot Passes Away.

THE END A VERY PAINFUL ONE.

He Showed Consciousness Until the Last. He Expired in the Arms of His Son, Surrounded by the Members of His Family and a Few of His Intimate Friends—History of His Eventful Life.

TURIN, March 21.—Kossuth died at 10:55 o'clock last night. Kossuth's end was extremely painful. He showed signs of consciousness to the last. He expired in the arms of his son, and died pressing the hand of the Hungarian deputy Karolyi.

The members of his family and a few of his intimate friends stood around the bedside of the expiring patriot.

Nothing has yet been settled in regard to the details of the funeral. The municipal authorities of this city have offered the family to allow the remains to be buried in the Pantheon here.

LOUIS KOSSUTH.

At a ripe old age, with his faculties still bright and responsive, Louis Kossuth the great Hungarian patriot, passed quietly away at Turin. Although his name and his deeds are mainly a memory with the present generation, his death caused universal sorrow. Once the dictator of Hungary, with his dream of national independence on the verge of realization, the old man died in exile and in poverty—literally a man without a country—for Kossuth would never bow the knee to the house of Hapsburg and refused all inducements to return to his native land. With thousands ready and even anxious to ease the burdens of his later years, he preserved a spirit of sturdy independence to the last. His pen earned him a bare subsistence, and his declining years were smoothed by the devotion of a favorite sister. The fire of his patriotism was never quenched, but it burned dull and cheerlessly amid the desolation of age and penury. "I have no hope in the future, no consolation in the past," was the mournful manner in which he recently referred to the approaching end of a career which was once the glory and admiration of all lovers of liberty and heroism the world over.

Lajos (Louis) Kossuth was born at Monok, Hungary, April 27, 1806. His parents were poor, but of noble rank. He was educated at the Protestant college of Sarospatak, where he qualified himself for the practice of law. In 1830 he became agent for the Countess Szapary, a position which gave him a seat in the comital assembly. Two years later, when the people of Hungary were groaning under the restrictions on their rights and privileges, his active political career began in the diet of Pressburg. As in other countries, about this critical period, the authorities were opposed to the publication of debates or legislative proceedings. Knowing the power of the press in the cause of reform, Kossuth founded a paper in which speeches were published and governmental affairs fearlessly discussed. The authorities took alarm and tried in vain to stop the spread of liberal ideas. Kossuth was threatened and his paper suppressed, but he found means to keep the people informed of national affairs, but in 1837 he was imprisoned for the publication of a lithographed newspaper.

His imprisonment, which lasted about two years, increased his popularity, and when he was released he continued his work for Hungarian freedom. Year by year, despite numerous attempts at coercion, Kossuth's influence spread. He was the recognized leader of the opposition in the diet, striving for the complete emancipation of the peasants, the elevation of the citizen class and the freedom of the press. In 1848 the French revolution, the great stimulus of radical doctrines, spurred Kossuth on to broader objects. He demanded independent government in the hereditary territories of Austria. It was his burning eloquence more than anything else that started the revolution and insurrection in Vienna. The ministry was dissolved in September, 1848, and Kossuth was placed at the head of the committee of national defense. Events followed thick and fast after this. Measures for pushing the war against Austria were prosecuted with great energy.

At Debreczin in April, 1849, the independence of Hungary was declared and Kossuth made provisional governor. Then came difficulties and dissensions in the ranks of the patriots. Russia threw herself into the Austrian cause, and to end the jealousy of Gorgel, his political rival in the great struggle, Kossuth resigned the dictatorship. The patriots were defeated in Angst, 1849, and Kossuth fled into Turkey, where he was held a prisoner.

Despite the pressure of Russia and Austria the sultan refused to surrender the patriot, who through the intervention of England and the United States was allowed to leave Turkey. In December, 1851, accompanied by his wife, he was conveyed to the United States as the nation's guest by the warship Mississippi, which had been dispatched for that purpose. What followed is well known. Kossuth was received everywhere with the greatest enthusiasm. He became the friend of Daniel Webster and other great statesmen of the time. He addressed meetings in the large cities in advocacy of the claim of Hungary to independence. His eloquence was regarded as marvelous, but the coup d'état of Napoleon III struck a fatal blow to his agitation, and in spite of popular sympathy with the great exile his mission fell flat.

Kossuth turned to Europe in July, 1852, and joined hands with Mazzini and Ledru-Rollin. He lectured in Great Britain on history and European politics, and became as popular there as he was in the United States. In 1859 he proposed a plan of attack on Austria to Louis Napoleon, but the peace of Villafranca prevented its consummation. The Hungarian legion was dissolved, and Kossuth returned to England bitterly disappointed. He removed to Turin (where he died) in 1862. During the war of 1866 he tried again to rouse the Hungarians, but failed. His hopes fled with this failure, and he remained in exile, preparing his memoirs, studying scientific subjects and writing occasional articles for magazines.

Kossuth always entertained a warm affection for the United States, which afforded him asylum and substantial encouragement in time of need. At his humble home in Turin he was always glad to receive Americans. When he was naturalized by the action of Hungarian law, which forfeits citizenship to persons who live abroad 10 years and do not formally declare it before some Austrian official, he received many marks of sympathy. Nearly 100 cities conferred honorary citizenship upon him, and a wave of enthusiasm swept over Hungary which gladdened the heart of the patriot in exile.

While a keen observer of European affairs, Kossuth rarely spoke of political matters during his later years. He broke silence in 1860 and gave his views on current events to an American journalist. At that time the German emperor was full of his labor reform scheme. Kossuth said William's words on this subject might be sincere, but they were only words. Neither legislation nor socialism nor monarchy nor republicanism could cure the social malady of the world, for which there seemed to be no remedy. "Meanwhile," he added, "the earth will continue to revolve, and some day the present population may be swept from its surface, and a new race, capable of a new civilization may appear. A cataclysm is the only hope of salvation."

It was in this mood of mournful foreboding that the venerable patriot passed the last years of his life. As he expressed himself on one occasion: "I am alone with my memories, alone with my bitter experiences. When on the brink of the grave a man makes up his account the balance is always on the wrong side. I have asked myself whether life was worth living. Only one comfort remains to me—I have persistently followed duty."

PIER BLOWN UP.
Commissioners of Lincoln Park, Chicago, Resort to Dynamite.

CHICAGO, March 21.—The police received word Tuesday that the Drexel pier across the right of way, claimed by the Lincoln park commissioners, had been destroyed by dynamite.

The explosion wrecked the pier and the responsibility is popularly laid to the Lincoln park board of commissioners. News of the destruction of the pier caused injunction proceedings pending in court to be hastily adjourned.

Fifty pounds of dynamite was applied to the pier under the supervision of Superintendent Pettigrew of Lincoln park.

Monday evening the Rozet forces had planned a big night's work in perfecting the pier, which was to protect the riparian rights of the property for which Rozet is the agent, which belongs to Edward T. Stolesberry of Philadelphia, son-in-law of the late Anthony Drexel.

While the contractor was recruiting his forces and the park officers were standing on guard, Superintendent Pettigrew visited the place and decided to storm the works. Securing expert assistance, he got the necessary dynamite from Lincoln park and proceeded with a small force of assistants to place the explosives. The structure was soon demolished, and the wreckage which floated ashore was burned.

WILL ELECT THEIR POSTMASTER.

NICHOLASVILLE, Ky., March 21.—Postmaster General Bissell has given his consent allowing the Democratic county committee to order a primary election to name a postmaster at this place to succeed Captain S. M. Anderson, whose time expires March 26. Only residents of the Nicholasville precinct will be allowed to participate in the election. The primary will be held April 6. The candidate receiving the largest number of votes upon the recommendation of the committee is assured of the appointment. The candidates are J. B. Smith, J. W. Carroll, W. J. Denman, J. H. Lusby, Mrs. Nannie Baldwin and Mrs. Sallie D. Coffman.

ACCUSED OF CHILD MURDER.

CIRCLEVILLE, O., March 21.—Mrs. Olive Shaw, daughter of a wealthy Wayne township farmer, was bound over to court yesterday afternoon in the sum of $5,000 by Coroner Lanum, charged with murdering her two-day-old babe. Mrs. Shaw had not lived with her husband for some time, and the cause assigned for this terrible deed is that she did not want to take care of the babe. The child's head had been crushed.

WATCHMAN ASSASSINATED.

LITTLE ROCK, March 21.—J. D. Wood, formerly a conductor on the Iron Mountain road, was assassinated late last night at the Consumers' oil mills, where he was employed as watchman. He had just stepped out of his office to make his rounds when he was shot and instantly killed. The assassin is unknown.

MILLIONS OF MONEY.

ANOTHER APPROPRIATION BILL PASSES THE HOUSE.

THE SUNDRY CIVIL MEASURE.

THIS MAKES THE FOURTH APPROPRIATION BILL WHICH HAS PASSED THE HOUSE—IT CARRIES $217,000 MORE THAN IT DID WHEN FIRST REPORTED.—THE TARIFF BILL INTRODUCED IN THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The sundry civil appropriation bill was passed by the house without division. The amendment to the appropriation for the general land office amending the provision of the act of 1891, repealing the timber culture and pre-emption acts which was adopted in the committee at the suggestion of Mr. Holman and which was bitterly opposed by the western members, was defeated in the house.

The clauses which sought to require an accounting by the disbursing officers of soldiers' homes to the treasury department and annual reports by the boards to the secretary of war, fell under Mr. Black's point of order.

The bill as passed carries $217,000 more than it did as reported from the committee on appropriations. The four appropriation bills passed by the house (District of Columbia, pension, fortification and sundry civil) carry a net reduction of $24,384,928, as compared with the same bills for the current fiscal year.

IN THE SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The tariff bill was yesterday fairly launched on its way in the senate, Mr. Voorhees, the chairman of the finance committee, reporting it to the senate and giving notice that on April 2 he would move to take it up for consideration. The rest of the day was taken up by Senator George of Mississippi in a discussion of the legal aspects of the Hawaiian question, defending the action of the president.

There was but little interest manifested in the proceedings and there was very slim attendance in the galleries, while the Republican side was almost deserted. Several unimportant bills were passed in the afternoon, and after a brief executive session, the senate adjourned.

BURGLARS BLOW A SAFE.

DRIVEN AWAY FROM THEIR WORK BEFORE THEY SECURED ANY BOOTY.

LIMA, O., March 21.—The grocery store of H. Stoffer, at Columbus Grove, was broken into at 1:25 yesterday morning and the safe blown open. Several hundred dollars was in the safe at the time, but the robbers went away empty-handed. The night watchman heard the report, and when he reached the store two men rushed out. He fired several shots at them, but failed to hit.

Brakeman Sheets of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road of this city heard the report, and when he reached the store found a pocketbook on the floor containing $200, which the burglars had dropped in their flight.

WAS HIMSELF RESPONSIBLE.

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 21.—W. P. Kimball, the young lawyer who went to the City of Mexico to confer with the warehouse receipt forger, W. H. Headley, returned home last night. Headley is well and says Hocker was not his accomplice, and that he had no confederate whatever. All the forging was done by himself. He is keeping a restaurant in the City of Mexico, and will likely send for his other children. His 3-year-old daughter is with him.

INSURGENTS NOT DISCOURAGED.

Buenos Ayres, March 21.—Advices received from Porto Alegre, capital of Rio Grande do Sul, are to the effect that the insurgents appear determined to continue their struggle to overthrow the federal government. Their leaders declare that they have sufficient resources to carry on the war, and that the prestige of the republican revolution has been increased by the flight of Da Gama.

THE TREATY NOW IN FORCE.

BERLIN, March 21.—Count Schouvaloff, Russian ambassador, called upon Baron Murschal von Bieberstein, minister of foreign affairs, Tuesday morning, when formal ratifications of the Russian-German commercial treaty were exchanged. The treaty is now in effect.

LABOR MEETING IN BOSTON.

BOSTON, March 21.—Four thousand workingmen attended a meeting in Faneuil hall to hear the well known labor leaders discuss the problem of the unemployed. Politics, the governor, the mayor, nonunion men and capitalists formed the line attacked.

BOMB IN AN ELEVATED CAR.

NEW YORK, March 21.—An iron bomb four inches long was found at 10 o'clock last night in an elevated railroad car of the Eighth Avenue elevated road by a trainman. It was taken to the Thirty-second precinct. Experts will examine the bomb.

DEATH OF COLONEL ALLEN SELLS.

TOPEKA, March 21.—Colonel Allen Sells, one of the original Sells brothers of circus fame, died at his home in this city last night, aged 58. He has taken an active part in the Populist party in this state for several years. He was widely known.

WANTS A RECEIVER.

NEWARK, N. J., March 21.—Thomas A. Edison, who is engaged in a controversy with the directors of the Edison United Phonograph company, yesterday made application for the appointment of a receiver for the company.

CORNERSTONE ROBBED.

DASTARDLY DEED DONE, BUT NOTHING VALUABLE STOLEN.

COLUMBIA CITY, Ind., March 21.—Yesterday morning about 2 o'clock Farmer William Hopmyers, who lives six miles south of this city, was awakened by a loud explosion.

He went to the window, from which he could see the German Lutheran church, and from which the direction of the report came. It was moonlight, and he could plainly see three men at the church. Suspecting something wrong, Mr. Hopmyers took his shotgun and started for the church. When within a few rods of the building the trespassers saw him, and at once left on a run towards a swamp about a quarter of a mile away.

Their pursuer ordered them to stop, and at the same time firing, but the distance was too great for the birdshot to have any effect, and the men soon disappeared in the swamp. Mr. Hopmyers notified the neighborhood, and in an hour 50 farmers were on the scene. Upon examining the church it was found that they had blown the cornerstone from the foundation, with the evident intention of stealing the money that was supposed to have been buried in the same when it was laid.

When they found that the stone only contained a few papers, a hymn book and a Bible they were so enraged that they tore the Bible into fragments. The swamp was surrounded, but the men escaped. If they are captured little mercy will be shown them.

NO USE FOR PRIESTS.

ASSASSIN PRENDERGAST REFUSES TO RECEIVE A SPIRITUAL ADVISER.

CHICAGO, March 21.—Assassin Prendergast does not want a spiritual adviser yet. He said so yesterday in a growing way when Rev. Futher Dore and another priest called to see him in the jail. "I don't care whether I get a supersedeas or not," he said. "There's no justice in this world any way. When I want priests I'll send for them."

"Buff" Higgins, Prendergast's cellmate, who is also sentenced to hang next Friday, was glad to see the clergymen and greeted them warmly. "If the supersedeas does not come today," he said, "I may as well prepare to push clouds on Friday."

POSTOFFICE SAFE BURGLARIZED.

BUTLER, Mo., March 21.—The post office safe was blown open at this place by burglars Sunday night and between $500 and $600 worth of stamps and a considerable sum of money taken, together with five registered letters. The local officer gathered sufficient evidence to warrant him in arresting James Franklin, Tom Harvey and Bert Davis, who are held for the postoffice inspector.

WILL CONGRESSMAN HARTER RESIGN?

MANSFIELD, O., March 21.—It is said a petition will be circulated here requesting Congressman Harter to resign, as he claims to be a resident of Philadelphia. Harter, on March 13, wrote to The Press here that he was ineligible to be a candidate for re-election because he was a resident of Pennsylvania. Democrats here say they do not want to be represented by a resident of the Keystone state.

CONVENTION OF MINERS.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 21.—Delegates representing District No. 5, Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, met here last night. St. Louis, East St. Louis, Muncie, Brazil and Terre Haute lodges were represented, the other seven districts holding similar conventions yesterday. The action of the convention was secret, but it is known that the wage question was seriously considered.

RAILROAD EMPLOYEES STIRRED UP.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 21.—The announcement of a cut in the different branches of train service of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois has caused a great stir among the employees here. It could not be ascertained just what action would be taken, but it is expected that an attempt will be made to arbitrate. The heavy cut is on the engineers and next in line are the freight conductors and brakemen.

HAD CONFEDERATE MONEY.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 21.—Charles F. Cole, 15 years old, was arrested here yesterday while en route from Richmond to Chicago with $35,000 of Confederate money. He was later released and proceeded on his journey. The boy proposes to sell the money in Chicago, and had run away from his home in Richmond. The Confederate money has been in the family's possession since the war.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Charles McCord, alias Frank Y. Rollins, was arrested at the old city hall yesterday afternoon by Detective Gibson of this city and Janies Smith of Grand Rapids, on a charge of murder. The crime for which the man was taken back to Michigan is the murder of Mrs. James McKinnick, which was committed on Jan. 7, near the outskirts of Grand Rapids.

MOY LEE SING KEPT A "HOP JOINT."

INDIANAPOLIS, March 21.—Moy Lee Sing, a Chinese laundryman, was yesterday fined $500 by Police Judge Stubbs for keeping a "hop joint." Sing had long been suspected of catering to opium smokers, and last week his laundry was raided and a full set of smokers' paraphernalia captured. Sing is now in the workhouse.

SWING THE CARNEGIES.

PITTSBURG, March 21.—Henry S. Colins, a steel worker, has sued the Carnegie Steel company for $20,000. He says he was poisoned at the Homestead steel works during the great strike in 1892, while working for the company, and he has since been unable to work.

Pork Packing.

Cincinnati Price Current, March 15: "The supply of hogs at packing points is maintained, returns indicating that Western packers have handled 210,000 for the week, compared with 245,000 for the preceding week, and 125,000 last year, making a total of 485,000 since March 1, against 265,000 last year."

"Prices of hogs and product were very decided—downward—during the week. Receipts of hogs at the principal Western markets have steadily grown, and are far in excess of a year ago, the most marked increase being at Chicago, St. Louis and Omaha. With the decline in prices of hogs the decline in values of product have been comparatively larger, and, what is more rare, the closing each day for more than a week has been below that of the previous day, until at the close May pork was 60c off, May lard 35c off and May ribs 42c down from a week ago. The drop in hogs has been less severe, being at Chicago 30 and 35c per hundred pounds.

"There has been a better jobbing trade in smoked meats, the South asking more freely for goods, still this has not prevented the downward course.

"The quality of hogs marketed has been up to the previous condition—excellent—and continue to show good feeding."

The Battle of Augusta.

Newport correspondent of the Cincinnati Tribune: "Patrick Seary, an old citizen of Bracken County, was in the city Sunday the guest of Colonel Kilpatrick. Mr. Seary is small as to stature and light as to physical weight, but looks tough as a pine knot, and has a pair of eyes that look out from under bushy eyebrows and evidence a man able to take care of himself. Mr. Seary was a member of a company of Home Guards during the war, and as such took part in the battle of Augusta. It was at his hands that Clarence Prentiss, a son of the famous George D. Prentiss, who was a Captain in Morgan's Brigade, met his death during the fight. Seary was in the upper story of Thomas Myers' residence on Front street, when Prentiss made an attack on it. Seary aimed and fired the shot which resulted in the death of the gallant young Confederate."

THE ENOS TAYLOR.

This Swift Little Steamer Will Enter the Augusta and Maysville Trade To-morrow.

The BULLETIN is in receipt of a letter from Captain Robt. Taylor of Higginsport, stating that he expects to start his new and swift little steamer Enos Taylor in the Augusta and Maysville trade to-morrow. Her initial trip, however, may be delayed a day or so.

The new packet will make two trips daily except Sunday, leaving Augusta at 7 a. m. and 1 p. m. and leaving Maysville on return trip at 10:30 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Captain Taylor writes that he has "the neatest little boat that has ever been in the trade," and he says if the public will patronize him he will do his best to please all. He asks the people to give the Enos Taylor a trial.

The cost of the new boat furnished complete was $7,000. She is allowed 160 pounds of steam.

There promises to be quite a rivalry between Commodore Edgington's swift packets, the Silver Wave and M. P. Wells, and Captain Taylor's new steamer.

A REVIVAL at the Newport Union Bethel, conducted by Revs. Joseph Geis and Mr. Walker, resulted in twenty-five accessions.

Mrs. CORNELIA MORAN died this morning at 9 o'clock at her home in Charleston Bottom. Funeral at 2 p. m. Thursday at the residence, conducted by Rev. W. W. Hall.

"STARVE A COLD."

A Writer Gives His Personal Experiences Along This Line.

In view of the widespread ravages of la grippe in different localities, and its possible appearance in epidemic form in our midst, I wish to lay before your readers some results from my personal experience from which I feel certain that valuable lessons as to preventing the disease may be derived. Without any pretense of a profound exposition of la grippe, it is safe to say that the disease in its nature and symptoms is very similar to an ordinary cold, except that it is apt to be much more severe, and often leaves results in the system of a more permanent and dangerous character; and I have the best of reasons for believing that the same preventives and precautions are equally effectual against la grippe as against an ordinary cold.

Now, the popular mistake is to suppose that colds are chiefly produced by our erratic North Kentucky weather, while the truth is that they are due rather to internal bodily conditions, produced by mistaken personal habits, which might readily be corrected with a very little study in the right direction. The same cold blast which sends a dread chill through the invalid unaccustomed to the open air, acts simply as a tonic on the robust and strong.

For the last twenty-five years I have avoided all serious risks of taking cold by a simple method, and last year I think I escaped the consequences of la grippe, with which I was threatened, and by the same method. As I have no medicine to sell, I trust I shall not be suspected of mercenary motives in what I write. I will first state some plain facts of experience, following with a brief explanation of these facts as I understand them.

More than twenty-five years ago I read in some health journal that a cold could be cured by fasting, that is, by omitting entirely two, three or more meals in succession, thus giving the digestive apparatus a complete rest. Having previously been troubled with severe colds, I resolved to give this remedy a thorough trial, and upon the first symptom of a cold carried this novel prescription into effect with some feeling of heroic pride, for I had never experienced the sensation resulting from an entire day of absolute fasting, and imagined it would be something remarkable at least. At the expiration of twenty-four hours I was completely surprised, not from any intense feeling of hunger, for after a few hours this craving for food began to subside, but every symptom and sign of my cold had utterly vanished; and such a sense of relief from that incoming tide of trouble which a cold brings, I had never known. Then and there I learned a lesson which I regard as absolutely the most important in my life, relative to my personal welfare. From that day to this I have observed the same rule, slightly modified according to circumstances, with substantially the same satisfactory result.

So much for the facts. For the last few years I have been studying to find a scientific explanation based upon the known principles of physiology showing the philosophy of this experience. I have consulted several well informed physicians in making up my statements, and believe they are in accord with the most advanced medical knowledge of our time. It is now a well established fact that in nearly all cases of cold, the digestive organs are more or less deranged and unable for the time to perform their normal work. In many instances this is manifested at once by a loss of the appetite, but in others, owing to nervous irritation, the appetite is excessively fitful and abnormal, so that it is not a safe guide to the needs of the system.

In either case it is plain that if the stomach is loaded with food which can not be promptly digested and assimilated it can remain there only a few hours before the inevitable process of putrefaction will begin, and then the food becomes a poison which penetrates the entire system which is thrown into a feverish, exasperated effort to expel the intruder through every available means. But if at the first symptom of the cold one or more meals were entirely omitted, this greatest source of disease would be avoided, and the overworked digestive organs, simply by the needed rest, would in most cases be restored.

It makes but little difference practically, whether we swallow poison as such or swallow something else which is presently transformed into poison in the stomach. In either case the result is disastrous. In most cases, if we simply avoid the causes of poisoning, there will be sufficient vital power to restore the normal action of the digestive organs without medicine. But in case medicines are required, it is certainly wise to abstain from food until the digestive power is restored. Nature has provided various means by which the human system expels poisons within certain limits, and the greatest means of all is through the action of the lungs. Every lethargic breath is but the dismal evidence of the corruption which permeates the blood; and the unfortunate victim is enabled to live only by the lungs being able to gather up and pour out volumes of stinking gases evolved mainly from food which the digestive organs were not able to dispose of, and he who persists in loading the stomach under such conditions adds fuel to the flame and is likely to develop a simple cold into pneumonia, la grippe, diphtheria or other dangerous disease.

My reason for not writing before is partly on account of the popular prejudice against fasting, for many will say that the remedy is worse than the disease. While it is true that the strong and active can often battle successfully without any precautions, there is yet a large class remaining to whom a cold is no trifling matter, and who can well afford the necessary care and denial of appetite to escape the dangers lurking in their path down the declivity of life; for the time must come with all when a simple cold, in addition to other infirmities, may cut short a life before one feels quite ready to go hence.

The time required to restore digestion by this method will depend upon the severity of the cold contracted and the amount of vitality one has in store, etc. The safest rule I have found is to persist in fasting until all symptoms of the cold disappear, taking small quantities of food at first. It is not claimed that colds of long standing can be readily cured by this process, but it must be applied upon the very first symptoms, for every morsel of food taken, which is not digested, becomes a source of weakness instead of strength, and delays recovery. I have a considerable fund of facts and philosophy on this subject which may be of interest to your readers, if your space will permit, at some future time.

Congressman Paynter is Not a Candidate For Re-election.

He May Enter the Race For Appellate Judge—His Creditable Record as Representative.

Congressman Paynter will not be a candidate for re-election.

Some have believed he would make another fight, but his intimate friends have thought all along that he would retire at the end of his present term, and he has set at rest all doubt concerning the matter.

It was reported at Washington City Monday that he would not be a candidate again, and when asked by the Courier-Journal's correspondent whether it was true, he replied: "Yes, the report is true. I have had the matter under consideration for several days, and reached the conclusion that I have had enough of Congress. I will now step aside and make way for some other ambitious Democrat who may want to represent the Ninth district."

When asked if it was true that he would be a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, Mr. Paynter said that he had the matter under advisement.

The Courier-Journal's correspondent adds: "The many friends of Mr. Paynter regret that he has determined to retire from Congress. He has been a faithful Representative during his three terms, and no man in Congress has worked harder for his constituents than he. The work he has done as a member of the Committee on Elections has been highly commended. His reports have been clear and logical, and the various contested election cases which he has handled show him to be of a decidedly judicial turn of mind."

"Mr. Paynter has never been one to jump into debate or make speeches on every occasion. He has addressed the House but few times, but when he did speak he held the attention of the members and always made a most favorable impression. He knew what he was talking about, and talked like a man who had confidence in himself."

"If Mr. Paynter decides to become a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals there is hardly any doubt but that he will make a strong contest. He is one of the most popular Democrats in the Ninth district, and his friends belong to that class of Democrats who stick through thick and thin. With the retirement of Mr. Paynter Kentucky will lose a valuable and highly respected public servant. It may be well to mention that Mr. Paynter is second on the Committees on Elections, Postoffices and Post-roads and Accounts. As a member of the Committee on Accounts he has displayed peculiar ability and has saved a good many dollars to the Government."

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Themes, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there were no hope for her, but two bottles Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida street, San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without results every thing else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottle at J. Jas. Wood's drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.

The couple will take up their home near Johnson.

JACK'S VINDICATION.

Major Henry T. Stanton's Comments Concerning Those Charges Against the Attorney General.

Says Major Henry T. Stanton in the Louisville Post: "Attorney General Hendrick having demanded an investigation of the charges made against him in the message of Governor Brown concerning the settlement made by him with the Maysville and Big Sandy Railroad, each branch of the assembly assigned the consideration of the matter to its Judiciary Committee, and the two bodies, at joint meetings, made a thorough examination of the laws and facts in that relation and each made a separate report to its branch.

"The Senate Committee reported unanimously in favor of the Attorney General, that his action throughout had been correct and personally and officially honorable. This report the Senate received and adopted unanimously.

"In the House a majority of the committee made practically the same report, but a minority held that while the Attorney General had violated no law, his action in the matter of this settlement was not specifically authorized by any law. This at least is the entire spirit of the difference of the House Committee.

"The Senate's Committee was Mr. William Goebel, Mr. Cromwell Adair, Mr. Rozel Weissinger, Mr. George S. Fullerton and Mr. J. I. Lander, acting unanimously. The House Committee was Mr. E. M. Dickson, Mr. I. A. Spalding, Mr. William M. Beckner, Mr. S. Y. Trimble, offering the majority report, and Mr. I. M. Quigley, Mr. J. N. Saunders, Mr. S. B. Vance and Mr. Thomas H. Hanks, offering the minority report.

"Save one, all of the Representatives signing the minority report are friends of the Governor, and it looks as if this modified opinion was made to save the Governor rather than to reflect upon the Governor General."

DROPPED DEAD.

A Former Citizen of This County Suddenly Summoned, at His Home in Scott.

Mr. Patrick Goodman dropped dead yesterday at noon, at his home near Georgetown, Ky.

Such was the sad news received by his sister, Mrs. Rosa Niland, of Sutton street, during the afternoon.

Mr. Goodman spent the best years of his life in this county and was a man liked by all who knew him. He was an honest, upright man, a good citizen and a Christian gentleman. He leaves a wife and several children.

The particulars of his sudden death have not been received. Mrs. Niland left for Georgetown this morning to attend the funeral.

P. J. MURPHY,
Successor to Hopper & Murphy.

REV. DR. THOMAS R. MARKHAM, one of the best known Presbyterian clergymen of New Orleans, died in that city the night of the 12th inst., after an illness of several weeks. The family originally lived in Woodford County, this State, but many years ago removed to Mississippi. The Doctor was a very courtly and accomplished gentleman, and was respected and beloved by almost everyone in New Orleans, where he was known all over the city. He was one of the pallbearers at the funeral of General Beauregard. Dr. Markham was an uncle by marriage of Mrs. Nat S. Wood, of this city, having married a sister of her mother. He lost his wife and children during the siege of Vicksburg, where he then lived.

JOHN FIELDS, colored, was arrested yesterday by Constable Dawson on a charge of carrying concealed a deadly weapon. Fields attempted to break up a party on "Hord's Hill" Saturday night by shooting a pistol, so it is claimed. He was to have a hearing this morning at 10 o'clock before Squire Grant.

PEARL RIVER HARBOR

As a Means of Gaining Supremacy in Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Notwithstanding the fact that President Cleveland has withdrawn from consideration of the senate the Hawaiian annexation treaty, and has intimated that he has no present intention of laying that question before the senate for its action, it is intimated in well-informed quarters that the president is strongly disposed to use at least a portion of the fund of $250,000 which has been placed at his disposal to establish coaling stations for the purpose of establishing a United States naval and coal station in Pearl river harbor, Hawaii.

The effect of this would be of course to accomplish for Hawaiians the arrangements they most desire next to annexation itself. It is conceded that the actual occupation of Pearl river harbor for the purposes for which it was granted in 1891 will amount to assuming a protectorate over the islands, and that Hawaiians would then have no cause to fear interference in their affairs by any other power.

Ex-Senator Edmunds has recently called the attention of the state and navy departments to the provisions of the sundry civil appropriations act of Aug. 5, 1892, by which $250,000 were placed at the disposition of the president for the purpose of establishing United States coaling stations abroad.

President Harrison understood that the money was to be used at Pearl river harbor, but before he was able to take any steps in the matter the agitation on the annexation question caused him to wait, in the hope that that could be first accomplished. With annexation the army of the United States would have to take charge of the harbor improvements and the money would have to be expended through the war department. This indicates the real reason which may have influenced congress to place the money in the hands of the president instead of appropriating it directly to either department.

It is pointed out that the use of any money for actual improvement of the harbor will constitute a significant and practical notice to foreign powers that the United States has no intention of abandoning its rights in Hawaii, and that it will tend to relieve any fear that may exist of British encroachments which might otherwise have followed the passage of the Wilson bill with its amendment terminating the favorable commercial relations now existing.

SEWING MACHINE TRUST.

A Combination of Leading Manufacturers About to Be Formed.

CHICAGO, March 21.—Plans for the foundation of a combination of sewing machine manufacturers, which will have many of the characteristics of a trust, are, according to a local paper, being matured. It will have corporate assets of over $5,000,000, and will, it is said, absorb the business of the White Sewing Machine company of Cleveland, the Standard Sewing Machine company of Cleveland, the Davis Sewing Machine company of Dayton, O., and the Domestic Sewing Machine company of Newark, N. J. The last named company is now in the hands of a receiver, and this fact has delayed matters materially.

The Domestic manufacturing plant, it is said, will be removed from Newark, and combined with the Davis plant at Dayton, O. The two Cleveland plants of the White and Standard companies will be removed to Chicago. As contemplated now, George P. Hoffman of Dayton will be president and a Cleveland man, Thomas B. White, will probably be selected as vice president. In the directory will be J. E. French and A. L. Moore of Cleveland, L. A. Johnson and E. J. Barney of Dayton, and the vice president of the New York Guaranty and Indemnity company.

It is a well known fact in sewing machine circles that such a combination was talked of a year ago, the only difference being that the New Home Sewing Machine company was also included, said a local sewing machine man. "The deal fell through for various reasons, among them being that the Domestic company was in financial difficulties, and that the industrial situation was not considered propitious. The proposed capital of the combination was $12,000,000."

Judge Kirkpatrick, receiver for the Domestic company, says that so far as that company is concerned there will be no trust formed while he is receiver.

Joseph Determined.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Delegate Joseph of New Mexico will make a move, as soon as the appropriation bills are out of the way, to secure a special rule by which the New Mexico statehood bill will be given the right of way and block all other business in the house until a quorum makes its appearance and passes the bill.

Wrestling Match.

RICHMOND, Ind., March 21.—Charles Witmer of Cincinnati champion Greco-Roman wrestler of the world, and P. J. Pitzi, middleweight champion of the southwest, wrestled in this city last night. Witmer won in 29 1-4 minutes after a battle that was skillfully contested.

The Three-Card Trick.

DOVER, Ky., March 21.—Louis Shersmidt, a farmer living near here, was leeved out of $165 by two sharpers, who made the old farmer believe they want to buy his farm. After gaining his confidence they induced him to try his luck at three-card monte, and he lost.

Heavy Rainfall at Memphis.

MEMPHIS, March 21.—Since Sunday evening seven and one-fourth inches of rain have fallen in Memphis. The wind was strong, but not damaging. The creeks, bayous and runnels are swollen, and all trains are more or less delayed. The weather is clear and settled.

To Succeed Benham.

DENVER, March 21.—Commodore Kirkland arrived from Honolulu, in Denver Monday night and left for the west. He has been ordered to Rio Janeiro to succeed Admiral Benham in command of the South Atlantic squadron.

PLUMVILLE.

Andrew Burgle, of near Plumville, died of paralysis at 3:45 o'clock Friday evening. After the first shock, five months ago, he was unable to speak or recognize members of the family except for a short time, and then he became totally unconscious and remained in that condition up to his death. He was a native of Europe and was seventy-six years and eighteen days old, having been born in Markham, Europe, February 26th, 1818. He came over to America and landed in Cincinnati, June 29th, 1852. He was engaged in shoe making and merchantile business in the State of Ohio for a number of years, and then came to Mason County, October 22nd, 1867, and spent the rest of his life on a farm. His wife and six daughters and three sons survive him. His remains were interred in the Mayville Cemetery, where he is resting in peace.

Cincinnati Tobacco Market.

Furnished by Cincinnati Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Company.

The market was not as active as we anticipated the past week, as the indications from the previous week were very encouraging for the advance, but the market did not seem to be fully developed. The buyers showed no competitive desire, and allowed prices to fluctuate. While some good sales were made, still we think the market as a whole showed weakness and prices were same. There has been an active demand for low grades and color lugs, and they have held up better than the best grades, and while a large portion of the offerings the past week have been of inferior tobacco, we believe they have been much more dry and worthless for the past few days, has reduced the receipts, and caused the offerings to be only moderate, which should cause a more active market next week.

Country buyers, with few exceptions, are still holding back from making their usual purchases, but the low prices and inferior tobacco, with an unsettled condition of the country, makes them timid. Still with any improvement in the near future of the commercial interests we could safely predict a favorable improvement in the tobacco trade and a good market this summer and fall.

THOS. J. CHENOWETH, P. M.

The Modern Mother.

Has found that her little ones are improved more by the pleasant laxative, Syrup of Figs, when in need of the laxative effect of a gentle remedy, than by any other, and that it is more acceptable to them. Children enjoy it and it benefits them. The true remedy, Syrup of Figs, is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all drugists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.
